PREFACE

ENCOURAGED by the success of the "Standard Atlas of the Dominion," the undersigned have less useful publications of historical and statistical importance. The first of this series—"The Coun in its varied contents and worth as a book of reference, equal success, though in a restricted field, will

In collecting matter for these pages the publishers have spared neither pains nor expense taken as scrupulously exact.

The publishers refer with considerable gratification to the completeness of the plans of tow under the eye of the reader, giving the name of the owner of each separate parcel of land; and all thi each township. These township maps also show the churches, school-houses, the cheese factories, and

The new map of the County—prepared by Wadsworth, Unwin & Brown, of Toronto—exhib ways, etc., invaluable from its fullness and its accuracy.

The new Railway and Postal Map of Ontario can not fail to commend itself to every one, a particular feature of the work.

The plans of Oxford's chief towns—Woodstock, Ingersoll, Tilsonburg, Norwich, Embro, Otte and will be found to exhibit all thoroughfares and public buildings of note; and the views of residenc and taste on the part of our patrons, add not a little to the importance of the book.

The geological map of Ontario—the work of French artists for the Dominion Government—is map, showing all the railways and their connection with the railway system of the United States, cha

CUSTOMS AND EXCISE.

It was not until 1856 that the advantages of a port of entry were accorded to Woodstock. From 1854 to 1866 Woodstock had been but an outport of Stamford. Jordan Charles, Esq., discharged the duties of the Customs and the Excise up to his death, in 1866, at which time the Customs department was given to the present efficient officer, W. H. Van Ingen, Esq., while Mr. J. L. Charles was entrusted with the Excise branch. Shortly after his appointment Mr. Charles left the country when the double duties fell to Mr. Van Ingen, who held the charge for about half a year. In 1868 John McWhinnie, Esq., was appointed to the Excise or Inland Revenue, and Mr. Van Ingen fell back on the duties of the office proper, that of the Customs. Ingersoll is now and has been for a short time an outport of Woodstock, and to the credit of that thriving town the advantage of a port of entry must be considerable.

DESCRIPTION

PRINCIPAL TOWNS AND VILLAGES

THE TOWN OF WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock proper—that is to say, the government appropriation for the site of the town—embraced that portion of land lying north of Dundas street and west of Riddell street, and bounded by the Thames and the second concession of Blandford; so that, according to the disposition under Governor Simcoe, the "town plot was the extreme westerly portion of the County of York, opposite Oxford, and washed by the Thames."

Except the nucleus of a village formed under the auspices of Captain Drew, R.N., around St. Paul's Church, all else was a comparative wilderness as late as 1832.

The history of Woodstock is the history of most Canadian towns. The progress of agriculture in the neighboring townships, the opening up of avenues of trade, and the introduction of manufactures—these were the instrumentalities to the centralization of influences and the growth of population. It is to no fortuitous circumstance that Woodstock owes its gradual progress and its present position. Without mechanical power in our portion of the Thames, without a trade in lumber, or a specialty in any respect, the growth of Woodstock can only be attributed to the influences we have stated, and to the canny perseverance and thrift of our people.

The construction by the government, in 1843, of the macadamized road now, and since the date stated, constituting our main highway from the east to the west, was a very material help to the progress of the place, and after the opening for traffic, in 1853, of the Great Western Railway, an additional incentive was supplied. Still the onward progress of the town was never spasmodic, and the growth attained has supplied few particulars, either to the chronicler of the press or the gazetteer, worthy of note, if we except the movement of the Presbyterian Church in 1838, to organize themselves and to possess the services of a minister of their own faith. In regard to that movement, we may state that a great effort was made by the Presbyterians of Woodstock and Stratford to enjoy the services of the Rev. Mr. Allan, then a missionary in Canada, conjointly, two Sabbaths in the month each. This arrangement lasted for nearly two years. Having found the travel through what was then for the most part a dense wilderness, every second week, more than he could well undergo, Mr. Allan, in 1840, resigned his charge of Woodstock.

In March, 1840, the first effort was made toward the erection of a church, and the site chosen was the acre of ground given, in 1887, by Sir Francis Bond Head. The Presbyterians of Woodstock subscribed largely, their means considered; these subscriptions were supplemented by contributions from friends in Zorra and Blandford, and after experiencing many difficulties, a very comfortable church was erected. Even to this day the struggles of those pioneers of Presbyterianism, in Woodstock, are remembered to the honor of all concerned.

In 1843, the disruption took place, and here again the strong will and steadfast purpose of the "sons of the North" were manifest. The pulsations that shook Scotland from end to end extended even to the wilds of Canada, and the little band of Free Presbyterians in Woodstock did not hesitate long as to the course to pursue. Shenston tells us that in futherance of a separate pulpit and the support of a minister, gigantic efforts were made.

The name of W. C. McLeod, Esq., appears prominent among those interested in the new movement; while the success that crowned the struggle is by the same authority placed, and in no speech of flattery, to the credit of John Douglas, Esq. The Rev. W. S. Ball was the first Free Church minister of Woodstock, and during his ministration a large and influential congregation was created. Not content with this, a Gaelic church followed; and it too, in point of numbers and usefulness, is second to no other place of worship in the town. The Rev. W. T. Mc. Mullen, who succeeded Mr. Ball, in Knox church, has greatly enlarged and otherwise improved the means of grace; while the members of the Gaelic or Chalmers church, under the Rev. John MacTavish, contemplate adding materially to the capacity of their building.

In connection with the religious bodies of the town, it is pleasant to be able to state that all the other churches evidence the spirit of progress. The Methodist connection are engaged in the construction of a magnificent edifice, and it will be no fault of the energetic minister, the Rev. J. B. Clarkson, if the followers of Wesley in Woodstock are in any respect behind others in church accommodation. The regular Baptists have a very comfortable building, and a growing congregation that before long will require increased accommodation. The handful, so to speak, of persons to whom Mr. Landon, in past times, addressed words of comfort have multiplied amazingly.

St. Paul's, the oldest church in the town, is to be supplemented by a structure of elegant proportions; and that difficulty experienced by the members of the Anglican Church—the place of worship being remote from the congregation—is to be overcome. The new church will be placed on that most admirable site south of Dundas and east of Wellington streets.

The Roman Catholics, though few in number, enjoy ample privileges in their neat church on Winniett street.

Of manufactures, as we before stated, we have few of note. The barrel factory owned by T. J. Clarke, Esq., has been, perhaps, most beneficial to the town. His Coal-Oil Works is another important aid, and so also the Cabinet Factory of Hay & Son. Miller's Cloth Works, the Ontario Spinning Works, Whitelaw and Huggins's Machine Shops and Engine Works, and the Iron Works Company, in addition to Forrest & Nasmyth's Flouring Mills, Schofield's Planing Mills, and Richards's Broom and Soap Factories, Collen's Ale, Porter, and Beer Establishment, and Holling and McNee's Tobacco Works, all contribute to the good of the town and neighborhood—and these are not all; while the merchants cultivate patronage in city like premises, and by courteous attention and rigid economy, content with most moderate profits are all successful.

agricultural statistics given elsewhere would indicate otherwise. Of the many notable establishments in Ontario for the production of agricultural implements, machinery, etc., that known as the Noxon Brothers Company, of Ingersoll, is perhaps the most extensive. It was established in 1856, and incorporated in 1872, with entirely new premises of most elaborate proportions, at a cost in buildings alone of upward of $35,000. It gives employment to an average of 130 skilled workmen, with a yearly business of a quarter of a million dollars.

Adam Oliver & Co. have a very extensive establishment, and are contractors on a large scale, and dealers in lumber, etc. Their saw mill has a capacity of 10,000 feet per day, while their trade is made up of shipments of doors, sash, blinds, cheese-boxes, etc., and they employ throughout the year an average of seventy men. Oliver's business was established in 1853, and has been of continued prosperity to the enterprising firm, and to the town and neighborhood. Christopher & Brothers are in the same line of business, with an establishment employing a hundred men.

The Woolen Mill of Waterhouse & Bradbury is another ornament to the place, and a further evidence of the "push" characteristic of Ingersoll; while the cabinet factory owned by McIntyre & Crotty is without an equal in the county. Bailey's carriage factory and Eastwood's foundry are other evidences of prosperity.

Like most Canadian towns, Ingersoll is amply provided with churches, and, what is of still greater importance, the ministration of the gospel from the different pulpits is not without effect in securing the presence of the great bulk of the people at their respective places of worship on the Lord's Day.

The press of Canada has no indifferent representation in the Ingersoll Chronicle and the Oxford Tribune. The former started in 1855, by the late J. S. Gurnett, Esq., and now ably managed by his son, Mr. G. F. Gurnett; while the latter, under the management of Mr. Harry Rowland, in addition to current politics and literature, is the special organ and advocate of the dairy interest of the section. The News, published by Mr. H. Constable, is less for party and more for general interests than the other two, and the indications are that all three find room and verge enough, and, in return, are sources of pleasure and profit to the publishers. The two devastating fires that visited Ingersoll not long since, if carrying suffering to many, have been the medium of improvement in the general appearance of the town, and it may with truth be said that few towns in Canada enjoy to a greater degree the evidences of wealth and culture that belong to Ingersoll.

A manufacturing centre of such proportions must require a very considerable circulation of money, and in Mr. Chadwick, the Manager of the Ingersoll Bank, the welfare of the town has its best friend.

EMBRO.

When Embro was projected, the future was not overlooked. It occupies an elegant plateau, from which may be viewed the rising hills, the broad expanse of agricultural prosperity, the winding stream, and the distant forest wealth of West Zorra. Its water-power has attracted capital, and its business prospects are good. Surrounded by substantial homesteads, there is none of the ephemeral, or "sufficient-is-the-day-for-the-evil-thereof" in aught that belongs to Embro. The father of the place, Donald Matheson, Esq., a gentleman whose name will be found in the representation of the County, legislative as well as municipal, has ever taken a deep interest in the welfare of his neighbors, and especially in all that contributes to the growth of Embro. It is a centre between Woodstock and Harrington and Woodstock and [illegible]

two Sabbaths in the month each. This arrangement lasted for nearly two years. Having found the travel through what was then for the most part a dense wilderness, every second week, more than he could well undergo, Mr. Allan, in 1840, resigned his charge of Woodstock.

In March, 1840, the first effort was made toward the erection of a church, and the site chosen was the acre of ground given, in 1837, by Sir Francis Bond Head. The Presbyterians of Woodstock subscribed largely, their means considered; these subscriptions were supplemented by contributions from friends in Ancaster and Blandford, and after experiencing many difficulties, a very comfortable church was erected. Even to this day the struggles of those pioneers of Presbyterianism, in Woodstock, are remembered to the honor of all concerned.

In 1843, the disruption took place, and here again the strong will and steadfast purpose of the "sons of the North" were manifest. The pulsations that shook Scotland from end to end extended even to the wilds of Canada, and the little band of Free Presbyterians in Woodstock did not hesitate long as to the course to pursue. Blenston tells us that in futherance of a separate pulpit and the support of a minister, gigantic efforts were made.

The name of W. C. McLeod, Esq., appears prominent among those interested in the new movement; while the success that crowned the struggle is by the same authority placed, and in no speech of flattery, to the credit of John Douglas, Esq. The Rev. W. S. Ball was the first Free Church minister of Woodstock, and during his ministration a large and influential congregation was created. Not content with this, a Gaelic church followed; and it too, in point of numbers and usefulness, is second to no other place of worship in the town. The Rev. W. T. Mc Mullen, who succeeded Mr. Ball, in Knox church, has greatly enlarged and otherwise improved the means of grace; while the members of the Gaelic or Chalmers church, under the Rev. John MacTavish, contemplate adding materially to the capacity of their building.

In connection with the religious bodies of the town, it is pleasant to be able to state that all the other churches evidence the spirit of progress. The Methodist connection are engaged in the construction of a magnificent edifice, and it will be no fault of the energetic minister, the Rev. J. B. Clarkson, if the followers of Wesley in Woodstock are in any respect behind others in church accommodation. The regular Baptists have a very comfortable building, and a growing congregation that before long will require increased accommodation. The handful, so to speak, of persons to whom Mr. Landon, in past times, addressed words of comfort have multiplied amazingly.

St. Paul's, the oldest church in the town, is to be supplemented by a structure of elegant proportions; and that difficulty experienced by the members of the Anglican Church—the place of worship being remote from the congregation—is to be overcome. The new church will be placed on that most admirable site south of Dundas and east of Wellington streets.

The Roman Catholics, though few in number, enjoy ample privileges in their neat church on Winniett street.

Of manufactures, as we before stated, we have few of note. The barrel factory owned by T. J. Clarke, Esq., has been, perhaps, most beneficial to the town. His Coal-Oil Works is another important aid, and so also the Cabinet Factory of Hay & Son. Miller's Cloth Works, the Ontario Spinning Works, Whitelaw and Huggins's Machine Shops and Engine Works, and the Iron Works Company, in addition to Forrest & Nasmyth's Flouring Mills, Schofield's Planing Mills, and Richards's Broom and Soap Factories, Collen's Ale, Porter, and Beer Establishment, and Holling and McGee's Tobacco Works, all contribute to the good of the town and neighborhood—and these are not all; while the merchants cultivate patronage in city like premises, and by courteous attention and rigid economy, content with most moderate profits, are all seemingly prosperous. Mr. P. Slight, we must mention, is pushing to completion a steam grist-mill (the Oxford Mill) which will command attention.

Few towns in Canada can boast the possession of journals of higher merit than belong to Woodstock. Two of them are venerable with years—the Sentinel, dating from 1854, and the Times from the year following. The Review has not had the opportunity, through length of

Of the many notable establishments in Ontario for the production of agricultural implements, machinery, etc., that known as the Noxon Brothers Company, of Ingersoll, is perhaps the most extensive. It was established in 1856, and incorporated in 1872, with entirely new premises of most elaborate proportions, at a cost in buildings alone of upward of $85,000. It gives employment to an average of 130 skilled workmen, with a yearly business of a quarter of a million dollars.

Adam Oliver & Co. have a very extensive establishment, and are contractors on a large scale, and dealers in lumber, etc. Their saw mill has a capacity of 10,000 feet per day, while their trade is made up of shipments of doors, sash, blinds, cheese-boxes, etc., and they employ throughout the year an average of seventy men. Oliver's business was established in 1858, and has been of continued prosperity to the enterprising firm, and to the town and neighborhood. Christopher & Brothers are in the same line of business, with an establishment employing a hundred men.

The Woolen Mill of Waterhouse & Bradbury is another ornament to the place, and a further evidence of the "push" characteristic of Ingersoll; while the cabinet factory owned by McIntyre & Crotty is without an equal in the county. Bailey's carriage factory and Eastwood's foundry are other evidences of prosperity.

Like most Canadian towns, Ingersoll is amply provided with churches, and, what is of still greater importance, the ministration of the gospel from the different pulpits is not without effect in securing the presence of the great bulk of the people at their respective places of worship on the Lord's Day.

The press of Canada has no indifferent representation in the Ingersoll Chronicle and the Oxford Tribune. The former started in 1855, by the late J. S. Gurnett, Esq., and now ably managed by his son, Mr. G. F. Gurnett; while the latter, under the management of Mr. Harry Rowland, in addition to current politics and literature, is the special organ and advocate of the dairy interest of the section. The News, published by Mr. H. Constable, is less for party and more for general interests than the other two, and the indications are that all three find room and verge enough, and, in return, are sources of pleasure and profit to the publishers. The two devastating fires that visited Ingersoll not long since, if carrying suffering to many, have been the medium of improvement in the general appearance of the town, and it may with truth be said that few towns in Canada enjoy to a greater degree the evidences of wealth and culture that belong to Ingersoll.

A manufacturing centre of such proportions must require a very considerable circulation of money, and in Mr. Chadwick, the Manager of the Ingersoll Bank, the welfare of the town has its best friend.

EMBRO.

When Embro was projected, the future was not overlooked. It occupies an elegant plateau, from which may be viewed the rising hills, the broad expanse of agricultural prosperity, the winding stream, and the distant forest wealth of West Zorra. Its water-power has attracted capital, and its business prospects are good. Surrounded by substantial homesteads, there is none of the ephemeral, or "sufficient-is-the-day-for-the-evil-thereof" in aught that belongs to Embro. The father of the place, Donald Matheson, Esq., a gentleman whose name will be found in the representation of the County, legislative as well as municipal, has ever taken a deep interest in the welfare of his neighbors, and especially in all that contributes to the growth of Embro. It is a centre between Woodstock and Harrington, and Woodstock and Lakeside, and lies on the road between Stratford and Ingersoll. It has large congregations of the Presbyterian faith and of other denominations. It has several well-stocked stores, factories, and a daily mail. For more than a quarter of a century, the Rev. D. McKenzie officiated in the place and his work as a man and a Christian minister will not soon be forgotten. In addition to the duties of Postmaster, Mr. Matheson is Chief Magistrate, and has held the office of Clerk of the Division Court since

Including Lists of the County and Town Officers, the Population, and a description of some of the Pr

Of the "few acres of snow" ceded by France to England in 1759, no portion presents to the eye of the tourist or the agriculturist so inviting an appearance as the county of Oxford. It is true that its inland position affords not those aids to commerce or to manufactures that belong to sections watered by our inland seas. The whitened sail of the merchantman and the Red Cross flag of the Empire and of the Dominion are seen but a few miles up the mouth of our Thames, which is distant from any portion of Oxford at least an hundred miles; nor can we point to towering mount or falling cascade—we are without a Ben Nevis, and we have no Vale of Avoca.

The county of Oxford in physical peculiarities more resembles the midland counties of England than any section of country on this side of the Atlantic. In its primitive state, the towering pines of Blenheim had fellowship in those of Norwich and of Dereham, while the maple leaf was seen in richest luxuriance in the Oxfords, Zorra, and Nissouri. The earliest records tell us that in days long gone by, Indian tribes of the Chippewas, the Mohawks, and even the Eries, found a peaceful resting place on the banks of the Thames, the Otter, and the Ouse. No portion of the county can be classed as unfit for cultivation. A subsoil of rich clay underlies the light surface of the southern portion of Blenheim, and when the last trace of the giant of the forest shall have disappeared, the least productive, while certainly the most profitably tilled lands will be those from which have been taken our finest deal timber. Excepting the sections indicated, the soil is exceedingly productive. The land is rolling enough to supply a free course for the rains of the fall and spring and the absence of expanse of marsh, or even beaver meadow, affords a guarantee for the health of the husbandman. No portion of Ontario is so well watered with living springs, and it was but simple justice on the part of Surveyor-General Chewett when he pronounced the section of which we are speaking as "the most valuable land in the Province." The exhibitions of agricultural products that may be witnessed annually, in every township, tell plainly enough that wheat and barley, peas and oats, and the roots and tubers so essential to profitable farming, all find a genial soil in the well-tilled fields of Oxford; and the rate per acre of production is proof of this, and of the industry and skill of our agricultural classes. Gentlemen familiar with the famed Genesee Valley of the State of New York do not hesitate to pronounce in favor of Oxford for general productiveness and the enduring quality of its soil. Fruit culture has not been neglected, and the annual shipments, to England and to the American markets, make it plain that the hardier fruits, such as apples, quinces, and pears, are not only a certain, but an abundant and a profitable crop, and an item of very material interest in the economy of the agriculturist.

The settlement of the county of Oxford was not rapid. Indeed, the settlement of Ontario, until a comparatively recent date, was like the seam on the sleeve of a coat—all at the outside. To trace the growth in numbers of its inhabitants, the wealth and the influence of the people, is not our purpose. It is enough to know that with but a moderate share of those trials that invariably attend life in the backwoods, about fifty thousand souls find homes, secure from any disturbing element, and in the enjoyment of all the blessings of civilization, within the borders of the county of Oxford.

Of the character of the early settlers scant data is afforded. The pioneers of our civilization were of that good old stock, who stood by the flag of England in the hour of dangers and difficulties—the father of our present Registrar, James Ingersoll, Esq., having, under promise of the tract of country now forming the three Oxfords, established a colony of U. E. Loyalists in the quarter indicated. Unfortunately for Mr. Ingersoll, at a time when all resources were exhausted, and when the helping hand of executive power was much needed, the then Governor, Simcoe, was recalled, and the settlement was left to struggle on as best it could, while Mr. Ingersoll had the mortification to find, shortly after, that all his hopes were blighted by the refusal of the new administrator to carry out the assurances of his predecessor.*

the township of Norwich, through the agency of the late Mr. S. ing and others, at an early date, a settlement was formed of persons nging to the Society of Friends. The habits of such a class, their eful intercourse and frugal ways, contributed not a little to the de- pment of the section in which they lived, and their influence for extended far and wide. Zorra and a portion of Nissouri gave er largely to persons from the highlands of Scotland, while a very derable settlement of Germans—more properly Dutch—found a ng-place in the rear of Blandford, and in what is now East Zorra, having subsequently been divided into "East" and "West." A ulation so homogeneous was certain to cultivate the aids to domestic ; and hence it is that the adherents of every church lack nothing ritual consolation in comfortable and, in many cases, really splendid ces. Of the School system little need be said. Long since the log ol-house passed away, and tuition through the influence of the ien rod exists neither here nor elsewhere in Canada.

postal accommodation, Oxford stands in advance of older sections ; it may be said, to the credit of the post-office authorities, and of our resentatives, that there is hardly a household distant from a post- e over three miles, while all our leading roads ar[illegible]outes for the con- nce of daily mails.

ich has been the enterprise of the people of Oxford that, with but or two exceptions where physical difficulties supervene, every con- on and side-line has been made available for travel ; while the ern half of the county enjoys the advantages of excellent mac pized roads he Great Western Railway passes from east to west through the s of the county—the division of the county into ridings following slight variation thus enforced sundering of the older from the newer nships. The Buffalo and Goderich Railway skirts the eastern por of the county ; while the Canada Southern and the Air Line pass ugh the southerly section. These great avenues of commerce are ssed by the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, a new enterprise, hing Otterville, Norwich, Woodstock, and Tavistock, joining Lake at Dover, with the county of Perth at Stratford ; while the Brant- and Port Burwell Railway, entering Norwich in the east, passes through the heart of that important municipality, and, touching onbur[illegible] connects the Canada Southern with the Great Western at ntford. Thus, no matter in which direction ingress to or egress from county is required, a ready means of accomplishing the desire is at d ; while the presence of so many arteries insures to the agricul st and to the manufacturer the most ample facilities—giving to the a value almost as great as if situated in the neighborhood of a great mercial emporium. Add to these essentials the Credit Valley Rail passing from Toronto, in an angular direction, through Drumbo, dstock, and Ingersoll, forming a connection at St. Thomas with the Air Line, the Canada Southern, and the Port Stanley road, and it will be conceded that this portion of the Dominion has necessity for no farther extension of its railway facilities.

The stately mansion, with ample and costly surroundings of orchard and grapery, croquet lawn and kitchen garden, is as discernible in every quarter of the county of Oxford as in England ; and the banks of the Thames, east of Ingersoll, are not equalled anywhere for palatial residences and for worth of natural scenery and, perhaps, no better proof of the correctness of our premises in all respects could be supplied than the following, taken from the Woodstock Times, of August 21st, 1868, in respect to a picnic at Dunelg, the residence of Col. Skinner, M.P. for South Oxford. The writer says :

"Every Canadian and every Englishman, except Mr. Russell, of the Times, in describing Canada, points with more than ordinary emphasis to that portion of the Thames lying between Woodstock and Ingersoll, as well for the evidences of wealth that are seen here and there through the rich foliage of our modest maples, as for the grandeur of scenery and agricultural thrift. It was our good fortune years ago to pass one Indian-summer evening over the section indicated, when the mellow notes of a key-bugle, at the residence of the late Captain Graham, were echoed back by the harp or the guitar from another of the many hills that give effect to the landscape. Then it was that the road to Beachville was, perhaps more noticeable than at present—not that all that contributes to improve the appearance of a prospect has not been done here, but that patient industry and wealth have rendered other spots charming. But if ever the drive was interesting along the Thames, it was particularly so on the occasion of the festivities of the Thirteenth Battalion of Hamilton, at the residence of its gallant commander, Lieutenant-Colonel Skinner, at Dunelg, on Friday last. Although the men and officers, with a large party of the beauty and wealth of Hamilton, had reached the grounds by rail, still, from the prodigality of the officers of the Thirteenth, in the matter of invitations, the roadway was choked with vehicles bearing youth and beauty to the rendezvous. The sports had been arranged, and competition was at the point of greatest excitement when we entered the grounds. There were stalwart men throwing the hammer, athletes running races, and clubs at the stirring game of base-ball ; while for the first time the people of this section were treated to an introduction to the game of la-crosse. The music of the exquisite band of the Thirteenth stirred the valley with sweet sounds, while the shrill note of the pibroch sounded far up amid the shrubbery at the handsome residence of the worthy entertainer. For half a mile in a circle, groups were found enjoying the scene, the pleasures of company, and the good things of life ; while from the festive board of Colonel Skinner rang the mirthfulness of maiden innocence, or issued the hearty basso laugh of a grim son of Mars. There were missionaries of peace, grave counselors learned in the law, and merchant princes—men at other times frigid in official consequence, but for this occasion warmed into congeniality by the happy influences that enveloped all ; and the neighboring community had brought to their door a mirthfulness and a sight never dreamt of in the backwoods of Canada."

In 1792, Dereham formed a portion of the Talbot District, and its complete subdivision into lots and concessions was not perfected until 1823. The first lands granted in this township were by order in Council given to John and George Ball, Hon. Robert Hamilton, Robert Addison, and to the Hon. Peter Russell. It was not until 1834 that the government decided on offering land in this township for sale ; although as far back as 1825 we find the names of sixteen residents, with a total of 66 acres of land, out of 63,722, under cultivation ; with 5 horses, 26 oxen, 22 cows, and 19 young cattle. In 1861, the population of Dereham had reached 5477, being an increase over the census previous (1851) of 1833. Its productions had also multiplied in a marvellous degree, and at present its taxable residents number 873, having a valuation of acres of $1,416,304, with personal property amounting to $180,065, and an assessed population of about 4000, with 5911 cattle, 3266 sheep, 1616 hogs, and 1437 horses.

The township of Dereham may claim to have introduced, into Canada, the making of cheese as an article of merchandise. Following the plan of Herkimer and other American sections, the people of Dereham adopted the factory system, and, under judicious management, with a success that is highly creditable. That mammoth cheese, forming so prominent a feature of England's great exhibition, inaugurated under the auspices of the "great and good" late Prince Consort, was made in Dereham by Mr. Ranney, and its size and quality were no less a wonder to the people of England [illegible]

the business they were engaged in was, in fact, that which was to end in nearly quite their ruin, by the escheating of the townships—a measure necessary to prevent speculation, and to do which discrimination could not be made. This taking , for a while checked the rapid population of the province by hardy and well dis- d husbandmen who had just learned the value of the country. Mr. Ingersoll in ular, being already in the country with a numerous family, pursued his plan of ving the township by removing thither and many other families at his own ex- e, and persuading others to remain who had entered in it. They were all con- d by the government in the small tracts they had begun on, as well as all the al settlers in the other townships. These settlers being aware of the importance nds in raising the value of property, early set about to open and extend them ; notwithstanding the numerous discouragements, and the immediate necessities of families, they, in one year, at the expense of Mr. Ingersoll, cut and bridged a road Burford to La Tranche through [illegible] one of twenty-five to thirty miles. This done previous to the escheats [illegible] ships. Mr. Elisha Putnam, of that town- (Oxford), by subscription [illegible] ured the road from thence, thirty miles, len's (Delaware) Township. There is a villa and a church raised and now finish- y Mr. E. Allen, after the model of that of the Mohawk Village. The subscription inadequate to completely finishing the road, it was left in an unfinished state, but le for sleighs. He has been by no means discouraged, but issued a subscription a road from Allen's to the Moravian Grant a further distance of fifty miles, to feet wide, and the logs laying crosswise to be cut out twelve feet long. * The following from the Upper Canada Gazette of September 13th, 1799, in relation to the hereditaments of the early settlers, and in illustration of the patriotism and sacrifices of the U. E. Loyalists, Ingersoll, and the late Mr. Elisha Putnam, and others, will not be out of place in the present work having escaped the attention of "The settlement of the western district, Lake Ontario, began about four years ago, except-population and cultivation that there are several neighborhoods at convenient dis-this year one thousand bushels of grain more than will be consumed within itself.

The settlements in these townships were commenced at a period when the adventurous and their followers were under every possible discouragement common to a new country.

Among those were Mr Thomas Ingersoll an enterprising man of considerable property, and who held the minutes of the Executive Council for Oxford as his own

h has been the enterprise of the people of Oxford that, with but
r two exceptions where physical difficulties supervene, every con n and side-line has been made available for travel, while the rn half of the county enjoys the advantages of excellent mac ized roads.
e Great Western Railway passes from east to west through the of the county—the division of the county into ridings following slight variation thus enforced sundering of the older from the newer ships. The Buffalo and Goderich Railway skirts the eastern por of the county, while the Canada Southern and the Air Line pass gh the southerly section. These great avenues of commerce are ed by the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, a new enterprise, ing Otterville, Norwich, Woodstock, and Tavistock, joining Lake at Dover, with the county of Perth at Stratford, while the Brantand Port Burwell Railway, entering Norwich in the east, passes through the heart of that important municipality, and, touching ne business they were engaged in was, in fact, that which was to end in nearly te their ruin, by the escheating of the townships—a measure necessary to pre-speculation, and to do which discrimination could not be made. This taking for a while checked the rapid population of the province by hardy and well-dis husbandmen who had just learned the value of the country. Mr. Ingersoll in lar, being already in the country with a numerous family, pursued his plan of ing the township by removing thither and many other families at his own ex and persuading others to remove who had entered in it. They were all con by the government in the small tracts they had begun on, as well as all the settlers in the other townships. These settlers being aware of the importance that portion of the Thames lying between Woodstock and Ingersoll as well for the evidences of wealth that are seen here and there through the rich foliage of our modest maples, as for the grandeur of scenery and agricultural thrift. It was our good fortune years ago to pass one Indian-summer evening over the section indicated, when the mellow notes of a key-bugle, at the residence of the late Captain Goodman, were echoed back by the harp or the guitar from amidst of the many that give effect to the landscape. Then it was that the [illegible] ville was, perhaps more noticeable than at present—not that all that contributes to improve the appearance of a prospect has not been done here but that patient industry and wealth have rendered other spots charming. But if ever the drive was interesting along the Thames, it was particularly so on the occasion of the festivities of the Thirteenth Battalion of Hamilton at the residence of its gallant commander, Lieutenant-Colonel Skinner, at Dunelg on Friday last. Although the men and officers, with a large party of the beauty and wealth of Hamilton, had reached the grounds by rail, sail, from the prodigality of the officers of the Thirteenth in the matter of invitations, the roadway was choked with vehicles bearing youth and beauty to the rendezvous. The sports had been arranged, and competition was at the point of greatest excitement when we entered the grounds. There were stalwart men throwing the hammer, athletes running races, and clubs at the stirring game of base-ball, while for the first time the people of this section were treated to an introduction to the game of la-crosse. The music of the exquisite band of the Thirteenth stirred the valley with sweet sounds, while the shrill notes of the fifes and pibroch sounded far up amid the shrubbery of the handsome residence of the worthy entertainer. For until a mile in circle, groups were found enjoying the scene, the pleasures of company, and the good things of life; while from the festive board of Colonel Skinner rang the mirthful-ness of maiden innocence, or issued the hearty bass laugh of a grim son of Mars. There were missionaries of peace, grave counsellors learned in the law, and merchant princes—men at other times frigid in official consequence, but for this occasion warmed into congeniality by the happy influences that enveloped all; and the neighboring community had brought to their door a mirthfulness and a sight never dreamt of in the backwoods of Canada."

In 1792, Dereham formed a portion of the Talbot District, and its complete subdivision into lots and concessions was not perfected until 1822. The first lands granted in this township were by order in Council given to John and George Ball, Hon. Robert Hamilton, Robert Addison, and to the Hon. Peter Russell. It was not until 1814 that the government decided on offering land in this township for sale, although as far back as 1825 we find the names of sixteen residents, with a total of 66 acres of land, out of 63,722, under cultivation, with 5 horses, 26 oxen, 32 cows, and 19 young cattle. In 1861, the population of Dereham had reached 5477, being an increase over the census previous (1851) of 1833. Its productions had also multiplied in a marvellous degree, and at present its taxable resources number 873, having a valuation of acres of $1,416,504, with personal property amounting to $180,065, and an assessed population of about 4000, with 5911 cattle, 3266 sheep, 1616 hogs, and 1437 horses.

The township of Dereham may claim to have introduced, into Canada, the making of cheese as an article of merchandise. Following the plan of Herkimer and other American sections, the people of Dereham adopted the factory system, and, under judicious management, with a success that is highly creditable. That mammoth cheese, forming so prominent a feature of England's great exhibition, inaugurated under the auspices of the "great and good" late Prince Consort, was made in Dereham by Mr. Ranney, and its size and quality were no less a wonder to the people of England than to those of the neighboring Republic. Other sections have followed the lead of Ranney and Harris, of Bodwell and Hopkins, and the cheese factory and the school-house stand in equal importance and in equal numbers throughout the length and breadth of the country.

Dereham's production of lumber, once very considerable, is falling away; still Mr. Tilson finds profitable employment for his extensive mills, and now, with railway facilities to all quarters, is in a position to command remunerative figures for its productions.

The following, in respect to the early settlement of Blenheim, is from Sutherland's Gazetteer of Oxford. He says:

"Mr. Horner's advent to the western part of Canada was under the following circumstances: In consequence of services rendered to Colonel Simcoe, during the American Revolutionary War, by a Mr. Watson, an uncle of Mr. Horner—in remembrance of those services, the Colonel, on his appointment as Governor, invited Mr. Watson to come and settle in the colony, and to bring all his friends and relations with him, and, as an inducement and a reward for those services, he was promised a whole township. In virtue of this promise, Mr. Watson accordingly sent a son to Canada, who, accompanied by his cousin, Mr. Horner, arrived in Blenheim in 1793, and to facilitate their speedy settlement, the Governor instantly ordered that three concessions of the township of Blenheim should be surveyed for them, in which, after the survey was made, a site was chosen for the erection of a mill, which was required by the Governor should be established as one of the conditions of their absolute right to the lands granted, and as an encouragement to future settlers. After making the selection for the mill site, both the emigrants returned to the States. Horner alone came back to Canada, which he did with a view of settling in this county, bringing with him from Albany, N. Y., the materials and men to erect the mill in question. At this time the locality of his intended settlement and the surrounding territory were unmarked by a single feature of civilization. There was then no road communication from Niagara (then called Newark, and the seat of government) to York (now Toronto), and the usual mode of travelling and for the transportation of goods was by boat along the lake shore, so that the only approach to the county was by such route. Mr. Horner having conveyed his materials, etc., all the way by water from near Albany, drew in his boat to the beach of Burlington Bay, in the neighborhood of where the city of Hamilton is now situated. His cargo was thence carried to Blenheim on sledges, roughly improvised for the occasion, and drawn by oxen. Mr. Horner's mill was the first saw-mill erected in the county, but he seems to have been unfortunate in his mill speculations, for the dam of his first (the saw-mill), which was in working order in 1795, broke down before it had been in operation at all, and the grist-mill, which he subsequently erected, was destroyed by fire in 1809, and never rebuilt."

The inland position of the County of Oxford and the sparsity of its population, at the time of Canada's struggle with the neighboring Republic, deny us the opportunity of supplying our readers with tales of patriotism or incidents of individual heroism, common in the Niagara peninsula and in the West. Our agents, who were instructed to gather and note with fidelity every incident that might go, in after years, to make up Canada's domestic history, have sought in vain for material for sketch-work; and romance in a work of this character is out of the question. We have, however, been struck with the fact that eleven persons are each reported as "the first white child in the county." An aged negress in South-Norwich astonishes the section with the assertion that she was Washington's nurse; while she insists with feminine obstinacy to the truthfulness of the story of the hatchet and the cherry-tree. A writer such as Mayne Reed would have no difficulty in procuring texts for works of fiction in the hunting scenes enjoyed by the first settlers, and retailed by their sons. But there is a marvellous sameness in all these, and the man of business who consults this Atlas to be instructed, not for amusement, would care little for the details of bear fights or the prowess of the back settler against the ravenous wolf. The hardships of "going to mill," the frolics at weddings, and the incidents attending, as it were, the dawn of civilization, amusing and instructive as all are, are so much akin to similar stories from the pen of Mrs. Moodie, in "Roughing it in the Bush," that we must deny them a place, referring the curious to the very interesting book just mentioned. Oxford never was the settled home of the "son of the forest," and of Indian traditions we have few; and, strange to say, Gourley, in his Gazetteer, passes these unnoticed. An incident of early life, in connection with the mercantile pursuits of our present Registrar, Mr. Ingersoll, may not be out of place, as illustrative of Indian character and the white man's difficulties. It was long, long ago, at the dullest time of the year, when an Indian matron walked into Mr. Ingersoll's store on the banks of the Thames (now the town of Ingersoll), and sought to barter her baskets and other handiwork for camp supplies, the warriors of the band being then absent in the West. Mr. Ingersoll, at the time, was in no mood for Indian supplies, as his stock was meagre in the extreme, and strips of cloth hanging from the ceiling were required to hide the nakedness of the shelves; while the latest news from York conveyed the depressing information that the batteaux, carrying the supplies for imperial wants and for the necessities of the settlers, were, by an adverse wind, forced to seek safety in putting back to the shelter of Presque Isle.

Mr. Ingersoll was in the act of wringing his hands at the gloomy prospect before himself and his neighbors when the squaw opened the matter of an exchange of commodities. In a manner quite unusual and quite unexpected, Mr. Ingersoll declined to traffic, advancing the fact that his stock was low. The squaw feeling the dignity of her tribe insulted, and seeing her hopes blasted, for she had travelled more than thirty miles on her commercial mission, drawing herself up to fullest stature, with a look unlike wheeled toward the opened door and left the shop, remarking in tolerable English, that "Mr. Ingersoll might well be proud of his d——d big store."

It was not, as we intimated, in participating in the defence of the country, that the pioneers of Oxford spent the dawn of their existence in the wilds of Canada. It was in the less exciting struggle to subdue the forest, and to open up avenues of communication to the outer world, that years of toil and hope were spent; and many of those sturdy men, sturdy in intellect as well as in loyal resolves and energy, yet live to see their sons in places of prominence in all the walks of life. Indeed, it is a circumstance creditable to the people of East Nissouri and of the Zorras, that a greater number of young men of the Mathesons, the Camerons, the Sutherlands, the Murrays, the McKenzies, the Olivers, the McKays, and the Munros, grace our pulpits, the courts and the counting-room, than of any other section of the country, numbers taken into account. In common with every section of Canada, Oxford, has increased marvellously in wealth and importance—reference to the schedules elsewhere supplied will demonstrate this—under the influences of our domestic institutions, Ireland and Empress of India;" and irrespective of party, th all is, that we may live in the fear of God, in dutiful allegia Crown and Constitution of the Realm, and in brotherly love tian charity toward each other.

In 1798 an act was passed for the better division of this p Geo. III., chap. 5), from which we extract the following:

"The townships of Burford, Norwich, Dereham, Oxfo Thames, Blanford and Blenheim do constitute and form the Oxford."

Another act of the same Legislature passed on the 4th " for the more equal representation of the Commons of this p Parliament," states that:

"The counties of Oxford, Middlesex, and Norfolk shall, t represented by one member."

Under this act, those three counties were represented fro 1804—i.e., in the third Parliament, by the Hon. D. W. Smith, fourth Parliament, 1804 to 1808, by Benajah Malory.

During the fifth, sixth, and seventh Parliaments—i.e. fro 1820—the counties of Oxford and Middlesex are found to be ed by one member, the members elected being, in 1805, Benaj in 1812, Mahlon Burwell; in 1816, Mahlon Burwell. From union—i.e., during the eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, tw thirteenth Parliaments—there was one representative for Ox the members elected being: in 1820, Thomas Hornor; in 182 Hornor and Charles Ingersoll; in 1828, Hornor and Malcolm Charles Ingersoll and Charles Duncombe, in 1835, Charles and Robert Alway. Duncombe having left the country, hi declared vacant, and the constituency passed to Roger Rollo H Robert Alway.

After the union in 1840, Oxford was represented by F. H Sir Francis Hincks.

In 1844, Mr. Robert Riddell was elected; and in 1848, Pet and Hon. F. Hincks.

In 1851, Hon. F. Hincks was elected, after which the coun vided into North and South Ridings.

In 1854, the North Riding was represented by D. Matheson Embro, and the South Riding by Hon. F. Hincks. During the of the then Parliament, a vacancy occurred in the representat South Riding, when Dr. E. Cook, of Norwich, was elected.

In 1858, Hon. Geo. Brown, of Toronto, was elected for the ing, but electing to sit for the City of Toronto, in which he chosen, the constituency fell to William McDougall, Esq., South Riding was represented by Skeffington Connor, LL D.

In 1861, the North Riding was represented by William M Esq., and the South Riding by Dr. Connor; and on the dem gentleman, by Hon. George Brown.

In 1863, the North Riding was represented by Hope F. Esq., of Sarnia, and the South Riding by the Hon. George Br

In 1873, a vacancy was created in the representation of the North Riding by the appointment of Mr. Perry to the position of Sheriff, when he was succeeded by the Hon. Oliver Mowat, without a contest. In 1875, North Oxford again returned, without opposition, the Hon. Mr. Mowat. Mr. Oliver was elected at the general election for South Oxford, but was unseated and retired, making way for Hon. Adam Crooks, thus giving to the Oxfords the services of the Premier and the chief of his executive.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

It was not until 1840 that the County of Oxford enjoyed within itself the advantages of a convenient receptacle for criminals, or the speedy administration of justice was secured through the medium of a resident judge, with the appurtenances belonging to a county town. The late John Arnold, Esq., was, by appointment of the Crown, the first Judge. Under the act 8th Vic. chap. 13, it was necessary that the county judge should be a barrister of five years' standing. Mr. Arnold by this act became incapacitated, and the office was bestowed, in 1845, on David Shank Macqueen, Esq., who has continued the discharge of the duties of that office in a most efficient manner up to the present time. The office of Registrar for Oxford was first filled by Thomas Hornor, Esq., a gentleman who had taken no inconsiderable part in the settlement of Oxford, and who had represented its people in more than one Parliament. Mr. Hornor was succeeded by James Ingersoll, Esq., in 1834. The duties of the office from 1800 to 1850 were not onerous. Long intervals appear between entries, and, as a consequence, the emoluments of the office were insignificant in the extreme. Indeed, when the office fell to the present incumbent, James Ingersoll, Esq., and the Registry Office was convenient to his own place of business in Ingersoll, the revenue from it and from the Post-Office—for Mr. Ingersoll was in early days a very centre of administrative forces—was barely sufficient to compensate him for the assistance he provided and for the stationery he consumed.

The office was removed from Ingersoll to Woodstock, in 1848, and Mr. Ingersoll (to the satisfaction of every person) has enjoyed health and vigor, aided by an efficient staff, for the very creditable discharge of the responsible duties of that office up to the present. The new Registry Office has not yet been occupied, but promises increased facilities with greater security.

The office of Sheriff of Oxford was first bestowed on James Carroll, Esq., who resigned in 1862, when Andrew Ross, Esq., was appointed. Mr. Ross's death, in 1873, made way for George Perry, Esq. The office of Clerk of the Peace was first and for many years filled by Wm. Lapenotiere, Esq., who, resigning in 1863, was succeeded by F. R. Ball, Esq., who is also Crown County Attorney and senior member of the law firm of Ball, Matheson & Ball, and since this sketch was penned has been appointed one of the Queen's Counsel for Ontario.

Mr. Foquett was Clerk of the County Court from 1840 to 1853; he was succeeded by James Kintrea, Esq., who held the office until 1864, when James Canfield, Esq., was appointed. Mr. Canfield is also Clerk of the Surrogate Court.

The office of County Treasurer was first given to Hugh C. Barwick, Esq., who discharged the duties until 1854, when James Kintrea took charge of the accounts and the finances of the county. In 1869 on Mr. Kintrea's removal from the county, the office was bestowed on the present occupant, H. P. Brown, Esq., who had been a successful manufacturer, and also a prominent municipal officer.

Prior to 1848, magistrates in Quarter Sessions conducted the business of expending moneys for public improvements. On the introduction of municipal institutions—i.e., township and county councils or corporations—under the auspices of the Baldwin-Lafontaine administration, all matters pertaining to public works and local government passed into the hands of the people, whose representatives compose the councils of those corporations; and so well satisfied are the people with the system, that no attempt has been made to abridge the power or circumscribe the scope of popular action. Thus it is that means are found for the better development of the country, the construction of public works, and the extension of our comprehensive system of education. On the introduction of municipal institutions, the Hon. P. B. de Blaquiere was appointed by the Crown as Warden of the district. An able and a popular man was Mr. de Blaquiere, and traces of his administrative parts and of the wisdom and patriotism of the gentlemen composing the council of the people in that early day, are still extant.

for sketch-work; ...nd romance in a work of this character is out of the question. We have, however, been struck with the fact that eleven persons are each reported as "the first white child in the county." An aged negress in South-Norwich astonishes the section with the assertion that she was Washington's nurse; while she insists with feminine obstinacy to the truthfulness of the story of the hatchet and the cherry-tree. A writer such as Mayne Reed would have no difficulty in procuring texts for works of fiction in the hunting scenes enjoyed by the first settlers, and retailed by their sons. But there is a marvellous sameness in all these, and the man of business who consults this Atlas to be instructed, not for amusement, would care little for the details of bear fights or the prowess of the back settler against the ravenous wolf. The hardships of "going to mill," the frolics at weddings, and the incidents attending, as it were, the dawn of civilization, amusing and instructive as all are, are so much akin to similar stories from the pen of Mrs. Moodie, in "Roughing it in the Bush," that we must deny them a place, referring the curious to the very interesting book just mentioned. Oxford never was the settled home of the "son of the forest," and of Indian traditions we have few; and, strange to say, Tourley, in his Gazetteer, passes these unnoticed. An incident of early life, in connection with the mercantile pursuits of our present Registrar, Mr. Ingersoll, may not be out of place, as illustrative of Indian character and the white man's difficulties. It was long, long ago, at the dullest time of the year, when an Indian matron walked into Mr. Ingersoll's store on the banks of the Thames (now the town of Ingersoll), and sought to barter her baskets and other handiwork for camp supplies, the warriors of the band being then absent in the West. Mr. Ingersoll, at the time, was in no mood for Indian supplies, as his stock was meagre in the extreme, and strips of cloth hanging from the ceiling were required to hide the nakedness of the shelves; while the latest news from York conveyed the depressing information that the batteaux, carrying the supplies for imperial wants and for the necessities of the settlers, were, by an adverse wind, forced to seek safety in putting back to the shelter of Presque Isle.

Mr. Ingersoll was in the act of wringing his hands at the gloomy prospect before himself and his neighbors when the squaw opened the matter of an exchange of commodities. In a manner quite unusual and quite unexpected, Mr. Ingersoll declined to traffic, advancing the fact that his stock was low. The squaw feeling the dignity of her tribe insulted, and seeing her hopes blasted, for she had travelled more than thirty miles on her commercial mission, drawing herself up to fullest stature, with a look unlike wheeled toward the opened door and left the shop, remarking in tolerable English, that "Mr. Ingersoll might well be proud of his d——d big store."

It was not, as we intimated, in participating in the defence of the country, that the pioneers of Oxford spent the dawn of their existence in the wilds of Canada. It was in the less exciting struggle to subdue the forest, and to open up avenues of communication to the outer world, that years of toil and hope were spent; and many of those sturdy men, sturdy in intellect as well as in loyal resolves and energy, yet live to see their sons in places of prominence in all the walks of life. Indeed, it is a circumstance creditable to the people of East Nissouri and of the Zorras, that a greater number of young men of the Mathesons, the Camerons, the Sutherlands, the Murrays, the McKenzies, the Olivers, the McKays, and the Munros, grace our pulpits, the courts and the counting-room, than of any other section of the country, numbers taken into account. In common with every section of Canada, Oxford, has increased marvellously in wealth and importance—reference to the schedules elsewhere supplied will demonstrate this—under the influences of our domestic institutions, that are, happily, free from the blighting influences of the democracy across the border. Positions of trust are held, not on the frail tenure of party existence; and the intelligence of our people, as years roll onward, finds its highest aspiration in the hope that the land of the maple-leaf will forever maintain its distinguished position in the Empire that acknowledges the sovereignty of her who, the other day, was awarded, by her faithful Parliament, the august title of "Queen of Great Britain and the law firm of Bell, Matheson & Bell, and since this sketch was penned has been appointed one of the Queen's Counsel for Ontario.

Mr. Foquett was Clerk of the County Court from 1840 to 1853; he was succeeded by James Kintrea, Esq., who held the office until 1864, when James Canfield, Esq., was appointed. Mr. Canfield is also Clerk of the Surrogate Court.

The office of County Treasurer was first given to Hugh C. Barwick, Esq., who discharged the duties until 1854, when James Kintrea took charge of the accounts and the finances of the county. In 1869, on Mr. Kintrea's removal from the county, the office was bestowed on the present occupant, H. P. Brown, Esq., who had been a successful manufacturer, and also a prominent municipal officer.

Prior to 1848, magistrates in Quarter Sessions conducted the business of expending moneys for public improvements. On the introduction of municipal institutions—i.e., township and county councils or corporations—under the auspices of the Baldwin-Lafontaine administration, all matters pertaining to public works and local government passed into the hands of the people, whose representatives compose the councils of those corporations; and so well satisfied are the people with the system, that no attempt has been made to abridge the power or circumscribe the scope of popular action. Thus it is that means are found for the better development of the country, the construction of public works, and the extension of our comprehensive system of education. On the introduction of municipal institutions, the Hon. P. B. de Blaquiere was appointed by the Crown as Warden of the district. An able and a popular man was Mr. de Blaquiere, and traces of his administrative parts and of the wisdom and patriotism of the gentlemen composing the council of the people in that early day, are still extant.

was established. Embro lacks connection by rail with Woodstock, on the one hand, and St. Mary's on the other. Embro has two good local papers, the Planet, conducted by Mr. Dawson, and the Review, by Mr. Hay.

BEACHVILLE

This is one of the oldest villages in the western portion of the county At one time it was the post town for the entire neighborhood, including Woodstock. The improvement of the county by railway facilities crushed Beachville's prospects entirely; still it is a clean, neat settlement, with churches, stores, etc., and has a daily mail east and west, and to Embro.

PLATTSVILLE

This is by far the largest and most important village in Blenheim. It contains close upon five hundred inhabitants. It is situated on Smith's Creek, on the quarter town-line, in the twelfth and thirteenth concessions. It contains two good general stores, two large flouring-mills, a saw-mill, a foundry, a flax mill, a large cabinet factory, two stores and two shops, a post office, and enjoys the advantage of a number of excellent mechanics of different arts. One drawback is the distance—four miles from a railway-station. This immediate neighborhood has a grist mill and a saw mill, on the third concession, owned by Mr. W Laycock, while Mr Christian Fry, on the eighth, and Mr. Shoemaker on the twelfth, offer great advantages. A. Tew, Esq., late Warden of the county, is the capitalist whose energy i contributing to the advancement of Plattsville

SPRINGFORD

This village derives its name from a fording of the small stream that passes through the section. Its population is about four hundred Two general stores are owned by A. L. Wilcox, Esq., whose prosperity is the result of eighteen years of successful operations, with an average business of $20,000 a year. Mr Henderson, the Postmaster, is also the proprietor of a general business. It has three hotels, a good brick school-house, two churches, Methodist Episcopal and Baptist, a cheese factory, making from seventy to eighty tons throughout the season, also a very extensive brick and tile manufactory, and a tannery Springford is on the Brantford and Port Burwell Railway, and is growing into importance Cornell, a station on the Canada Southern Railway, is three and a half miles from Springford

OTTERVILLE

The first settlement was made here in 1807, on a government grant to John Earls and Paul Avery, who were also given some machinery for the erection of grist and saw mills. These men sold to Messrs. Cook and Galloway In 1831 and 1832, Peter Hamilton and William Hardy started a furnace for the smelting of iron, about a mile from the village At that time engineers were engaged in a survey of the river, with the view of securing navigation up to the smelting works In 1840 Peter Avery, the first white child in the township, was born In 1833, Mr Asa Durkee started a tannery and to this day carries on the business every year, extending his operations, and increasing the number of his friends The enterprising firm the Messrs Bullock are extensive dealers and valuable aids to the county round. The present population is 800, and the prospect is that this number will be rapidly increased through the opening of travel, north and south, by the construction of the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, the advantage of the Canada Southern Railway and the splendid water power enjoyed for manufacturing purposes. At present Otterville has two saw mills one woolen factory, one flour and two shingle mills, a cabinet and match factory, a tannery and turning establishment, with mills in the immediate neighborhood Its churches are models of neatness, and its school House is one of the best in the county; all watched over by a journal the Arena, conducted by Mr Holland

DRUMBO

This village is situated about the centre of the township of Blenheim. It contains four general stores, one foundry, one tannery, two extensive brick manufacturing establishments, with all the trades necessary for a community It has five places of worship, two medical men and an excellent public hall It is an important station of the Buffalo and Goderich and the Credit Valley Railways, with the village of Wolverton contributing to its growth. Drumbo has two mails daily via railway –that from Toronto coming via Stratford Mr Henry Mumm, in addition to his extensive business, is the Chief Magistrate of the village Drumbo is the head quarters of Captain Pattullo's rifle corps at tached to the Brant Battalion

WOLVERTON (FORMERLY WARSAW)

This is a pretty little village, on Smith's Creek, on the eighth concession of Blenheim It has a splendid flour mill, a general store, and planing mill with one of the best and most English like hotels in the county, a credit to the section and to the proprietor, Mr F Meyer

WASHINGTON

This is a small village on the middle town line, in the twelfth and thirteenth concessions It has a general store and post office, etc., and the inhabitants are engaged in the erection of a temperance hall, and pronounce strongly against the traffic in liquors

Next to Embro, this is the most important village in West Zorra. Its pulation is on the increase, and its sources of prosperity, in the grow wealth of its agricultural classes, is unmistakably improving. It s a post-office, general stores, churches, and hotels, with mills, etc plewood, Brookdale, and Youngsville, all post villages, connect Har gton with Embro, which is the distributing point

LAKESIDE

This is a village in the township of East Nissouri, on the westerly e of West Zorra. It has an admirable sheet of water for pleasure rposes, and is quite a resort in the heated term of our Canadian sum r. It has a small store, post office, place of township meetings, etc edina, Kintore, Dornoch, and Thamesford are post villages, lying on the route to Ingersoll, the latter being a place of importance. Lakeside contributes a corps of rifles to the Twenty-second Battalion, and Thamesford one of infantry to the Twenty-sixth or Middlesex Battalion. The Lakeside company is under the command of Major Munro.

BURGESSVILLE,

On the line of the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, and midway between Norwich and Woodstock, is a thriving village. It has a daily post, several factories, and an admirable hotel, owned by Mr. E. O'Neill, Jr. Lying between Burgessville and the north of East Oxford are situated three post villages, Oriel, Vandecar, and Oxford Centre, giving abundant facilities of stores, manufactories, etc., to that wealthy section.

HOLBROOK.

It is a post village on the Woodstock and Norwich gravel road, about equal distance between the places named. It has a cheese factory, a general store on the co-operative plan, enjoys a daily mail from Woodstock, and has a very convenient and comfortable Presbyterian church. J. W. Nesbitt, Esq., is President of the store company, and is the popular Justice of the Peace and issuer of marriage licenses.

MOUNT ELGIN.

This is a village in Dereham, on the Ingersoll and Port Burwell macadamized road. It is in the heart of the dairy interest of the county, has a good store, a daily post, and all other necessaries. Culloden and Verchoyle are post-offices between Mount Elgin and Woodstock.

SWEABORG.

This place was formerly called Floodtown, but when mail accommodation was given the name was changed. It is five miles from Woodstock, in West Oxford, and about the same from Beachville. It was an important lumber section, and yet contributes considerable. In time, Sweaborg will attract attention from the beauty of the surrounding scenery and streams of limpid water. Mr. Carr's mills are important helps, and Smith's saw-mill, south, is an establishment of importance. It has two good stores, an excellent school, and is rapidly improving.

NORWICH

From present appearances, Norwich bids fair to rival the most progressive of the towns of Oxford. It is nearly half way between Woodstock and Simcoe, and is the centre of the most wealthy portion of the county. It was the resting place of that company of Quakers who contributed so materially to the well-being of the county, and whose descendants still cultivate broad acres and ornament the society of the township. The Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway and the Brantford and Port Burwell Railway cross each other in Norwich. It is the centre of our great fruit section, and the cheese business of the county is well represented in the neighborhood. Norwich has large manufacturing establishments, its present size taken into account; good stores, connection with Woodstock and Brantford by post routes; churches, schools, and benevolent and charitable societies, and might, had the Quakers not rebelled against a jail and court-house, have been the county town. It is the residence of Gilbert Moore, Esq., President of the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, and of Dr. Carroll, President of the Brantford and Port Burwell Railway. Its incorporation under legislative authority took place last January, and its municipal affairs are under the management of a council, separate from that of the township. Lately a weekly newspaper, The Standard, was started by Mr. H. G. Pilcher, and under favorable auspices. The typographical appearance, the selections, and the general tone of the paper are all indicative of culture. An office of the Division Court is in Norwich; J. Barr, Clerk. Mr. Benson Lossing, yet an active and intelligent resident, claims to have plied the axe that felled the first tree cut down in Norwich. The agricultural exhibitions in Norwich are evidences of long-accustomed wealth, and there is a thrift that is exceedingly pleasant to notice in the homesteads of the Norwich people. Dr. Cook, a former representative of South Oxford, resides in Norwich, and is a pillar of strength to every enterprise. The Royal Canadian Bank has an agency in the town.

TILSONBURG.

This is an important point in the southwest corner of the township of Dereham. At one time it was the head-quarters of a very extensive lumber trade; even yet no inconsiderable supply of that article is produced. It has had the advantage of the capital and great business push of Mr Tilson, whose name it bears. Dereham Forge was at one time the name of the place, and iron ore from the neighborhood was melted and manufactured. The Canada Southern, the Air Line, and the Brantford and Port Burwell Railways touch Tilsonburg. It has many good stores, several extensive mills and factories, much enterprise in its prominent men; a weekly newspaper, published and edited by W. S. Law, Esq. It lies on the Ingersoll and Port Burwell macadamized road, and is a distributing office for Brownsville, Houghton, and other points in Elgin and Norfolk. Mr. Bain is, and has been for some time, the Reeve of Tilsonburg. The medical and the legal profession are both well represented in the town.

GROWTH OF THE COUNT

SCHEDULE SHOWING THE POPULATION OF THAT TRACT OF COUNTRY NOW FORMING THE COUNTY OF OXFORD, AS GIVEN BY THE ASSESSORS, ELI HARRIS, AND DAVID CURTIS, IN 1812.

As this is the earliest record and one that gives, with but a very few exceptions, the entire list of the then inhabitants of Oxford, with the extent of their real and taxable property, we feel that its presence in this compilation is a necessity. The reader will not fail to notice the absence in this list of the names of the most prominent gentlemen of the first colonization—viz.: that of Mr. Ingersoll and Mr. Putnam. The records of the Township of Toronto, in the County of York, years before this enumeration was made, mention the removal of Mr. Ingersoll from Oxford, where he died broken-hearted. His residence in that section was near what is now known as Merigold's Point, on Lake Ontario. In 1826, however, we find Mr. Charles Ingersoll and his brothers, Thomas and James, among the partners of the early struggles of their father. Of Mr. Putnam, we have no trace.

It will be noticed that in several instances, in relation to personal property, such as cattle, sheep, hogs, and horses, discrepancies exist when compared figures under the census returns. To account for these, it will only be necessary to say that taxation follows the one, while no inducement exists for forge the other.
